

THE ANCHOR

As part of our mission to ensure access to quality healthcare in medically underserved areas, Three Rivers AHEC in partnership with the Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine-Georgia Campus has created THE ANCHOR. As part of this pilot project, twelve 3rd year Osteopathic Medical Students moved to Columbus in June 2009. They will complete their required core clinical clerkships in and around the Columbus area. The students will complete a number of their elective and selective sub-specialty rotations here as well.

With prolonged exposure to our communities in west central Georgia, these student Doctors will be more likely to return to the region to practice medicine upon completion of residency.
